

DWI (Driving while intoxicated)

If you or a loved one has been arrested for Driving While Intoxicated (DWI), you need to contact an attorney immediately. In New York, a Blood Alcohol Content of .008 is the legal limit as it was recently lowered from .010.

It is important to retain an experienced attorney for a DWI arrest because just merely an arrest for this charge can lead to your license getting suspended and your car being impounded. An experienced Criminal Defense Attorney can help you get your license back and obtain your car from police impound. Furthermore, an experienced Attorney can in many cases effectively challenge the accuracy of the Police Blood Alcohol Content Reading, represent you in DMV "Refusal Hearings" and help investigate an accident scene if necessary.

Equally important as all of the above is that an experienced Criminal Defense Attorney can be an effective and zealous advocate at trial if necessary. It is also extremely important to retain an attorney who can successfully negotiate plea deals that don't saddle you or your loved ones with a criminal record.

David McGruder has handled hundreds of DWI cases both as a defense attorney and as a prosecutor. He is an experienced trial attorney who is effective in arguing your case in front of a jury or Judge. He is equally effective in getting his clients the best plea deals possible as he is a former prosecutor and is familiar with the policies and practices of many of prosecutor's offices in the New York City area.
